

Improving speaking and listening through creative approaches.

- Do you work in the secure estate or with young people at risk of offending?
- Are you interested in improving speaking and listening skills through increased engagement?
- Are you available on 25 February 2008?

Bring creativity and a fresh approach into improving the communication skills of your learners.

See how drama and other creative approaches can engage young people and build their confidence.

With keynote speaker Prof Martin Stephenson, Nottingham Trent University, you will have the opportunity to learn more about a range of creative approaches, as well as share your experiences with others in your sector.

Tickets are priced at £45 but spaces are limited so please book as soon as possible.

For further information or to book your place at this event please contact Barbara Billey on Barbara.billey@niace.org.uk or 0207 440 6519

25th February 2008
9.30 – 4.00
Sadler's Wells Theatre
Rosebery Avenue
London