

Learning at Work Day - 25th May 2006

We invite you to join the GPSVision team for a short but practical workshop and meet Jo Cameron - star of 'The apprentice' CIPD lecturer and former colleague. Jo will be joining us for this unique special event.

GPSVision are working with the Campaign for Learning by running workshops to support Learning at Work Day (www.learningatworkday.com) which highlights workplace learning. Two workshops are planned so that delegates can attend either an 8-10 breakfast session or 12-2 lunchtime session held at the Technocentre in Coventry.

The workshops will be light-hearted and focus on Team Problem Solving and Team Working. We'll also be looking at a system which improves learning transfer and provides measurement data to calculate return on investment - called the Performance Improvement Cycle©.

The workshops offer an interesting couple of hours for anyone involved in training and development. The cost is £25 including buffet breakfast or lunch and a pack of puzzles, activities and energizers. Numbers will be limited for each session so book early to avoid disappointment
